

MERT Ufuk, Assist.Prof., Izmir, Turkey

Ege University, Department of Basic Oncology, Cancer Biology and Immunology

Dr. Ufuk Mert received his bachelor's degree at the Department of Molecular Biology & Genetics at Middle East Technical University and completed his master's degree in Cancer Genetics at Istanbul University, Institute of Oncology. He received his PhD degree in Medical Biology at Akdeniz University, Antalya. As a grantee of The Scientific and Technological Research Council of Turkey (TÜBİTAK), he had studied at Kiel University, Institute of Experimental Cancer Research as a post-doctoral fellow for 12 months. He has been working at EgeTPRC (Translational Pulmonary Research Center) since June 2020 and has been pursuing his second PhD degree in the department of Basic Oncology at Ege University. He also currently works at Ege University Atatürk Health Care Vocational School as assistant professor. Cancer Biology, circular RNA, and next generation sequencing technologies are among his field of interest.